SENIORS

Could we ever forget our first day of high school when we walked down the halls and gazed at the mighty seniors? We wanted to "belong" so badly, yet we seemed worlds apart from the upper classmen. As the days sped by, however, we became involved in a beehive of activities-clubs, dances, class elections, assemblies, and studies. Before we realized it a year had passed and the many friends who had left for college were replaced by a new freshmen class. Then we were juniors and had reached the halfway mark of our high school lives. There were class rings to buy and graduation requirements to recheck. Then our year arrived - 1965. This was the year we had looked forward to all through school. We were in a maze of glory - we had finally made it! Time passed so quickly and every event seemed to take on a special meaning, even those hectic days when we were measured for our cap and gowns, and ordered our graduation announcements. In May the senior prom arrived, and soon after, graduation brought a sad but successful close to our school year.

Although these four years will soon be just memories, a portion of Ohio City-Liberty High School will always remain with us.

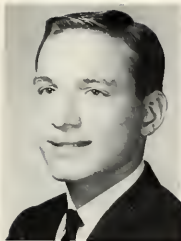

Senior Class History

We began our high school years as Freshmen, September 14, 1961, with twenty-seven members in the class. Our class sponsor was Mr. Matthias. Our class officers were: President; Mary Ina McConn, Vice President; Cindy Dull, Secretary; Jill Shaw, Treasurer; Annelle Doan, and our Homecoming attendant was Linda Simon.

We returned to school to start our Sophomore year on September 11, 1962 with still twenty-seven members, although we lost four, but also gained four. Mr. Ron Matthias was again our sponsor. Our class officers were: President; Arlene Witten, Vice President; Neila Prichard, Secretary; Linda Simon, Treasurer; Dorothy Mathew. Our Homecoming attendant was Arlene Witten. We took two class trips that year; in November 1962, we went to Chicago to the Museum of Natural History, then in May, 1963, we went back to Chicago to the Museum of Science and Industry. A big event of the year was in March when we ordered our class rings.

We began our profitable Junior year with 26 member on the class roll. We had lost four and gained three. Our class sponsor for that year was Mr. David Leiendecker. Our class officers for that year were: President; Arlene Witten, Vice President; Ron Kline, Secretary; Jill Shaw, Treasurer; Dorothy Mathew. Our Homecoming attendant was Neila Prichard. Our big events that year were: getting our class rings, Junior class play; "Half Past Teen," and the Junior-Senior Prom; "Harbor Lights." We also chose our class colors which are magenta and white, also the class flower which is a magenta tipped carnation.

We began our final year at O.C.L. with 25 class members, we had lost four and gained three. Our class sponsor for that year was Mr. Robert Lybarger. The class officers were: President; Tom Chilcote, Vice President; Rick Rosendahl, Secretary; Penney Coutts, Treasurer; Dorothy Mathew, our Homecoming attendant was Penney Coutts and the Queen, Neila Prichard. Our magazines sales totaled $778.94. We had a successful Senior class play "I Was A Teenage Dracula," which was directed by Mr. Robert Stahl. It was so successful that we gave a second performance. We took two class trips this year. On May 19 we went to Columbus and toured the Capital Building, on June 3 we went to Detroit and toured Greenfield Village, The Ford Motor Plant; we also took a boat cruise to Bob-lo Island. Our Valedictorian was Rick Rosendahl, and co-salutatorians, Annelle Doan and Arlene Witten. We ended our years at O.C.L. on June 6 with Baccalaureate in the afternoon and Commencement in the evening.

Class Prophecy

By Bruce Bolenbaugh

My mind whirled crazily as I struggled to regain consciousness. How had I gotten like this? Where was I? Suddenly, I heard a calm voice reassuring me that everything was all right. Just as suddenly I recalled the whole thing: how I'd volunteered to test Freez-sleep, how I'd been prepared, then injected with the preservation which would suspend aging for 25 years. Now I was awake, like a 21st century Rip Van Winkle, and just about as confused. I stayed for a week to recover from the sleep, and the director of the hospital came in. "Suppose you'll want to look up some old friends of yours, won't you? Well, here's your file. Help yourself. And here's the money you deposited, and some new clothes. Call if you need me." Thanking him, I got in one of the hover-taxis waiting outside. A small sign on the inside of the taxi caught my eye: Serviced by Strawn-Petitt-Tribolet Corp., 1011358. The doc had told me that all towns and cities were numbers now, not names. I was in 1011358, so I spoke the company name into the voice-guide mike, and arrived at the place in two shakes. I went in and saw Tom Chilcote. He hadn't changed a bit. I learned that the huge car service company was indeed owned by Dean, Gene, and Gary, and that Tom was President of the largest bank in the city. He was picking up his hover car. He very graciously invited me to go see some other class members living in the city. I consented gladly. Tom said that business was booming, and the bank was going great, especially since Neila Prichard was comptroller. I learned that Ron Kline had gotten a large loan to expand his Ramex Plant in 2883588, and that Chuck Bickle was a millionaire after having bought shares of the Laser-Communications stock while working servicing Ramex installations.

I asked who led the country these days. He looked stunned. "Why, Rick Rosendahl, didn't you - oh, that's right, you were asleep. He's been in office for 16 years. Presidents serve eight year terms now," he told me. "Jerry Amweg is Vice-President, Dorothy Mathew is Treasurer, and Linda Simon is Secretary of State, first woman ever in the position."

We were approaching a large white building right in the heart of the city. I guessed that it was a hospital. I was right. Tom informed me that Penney Coutts was head nurse there, and that Billie Switzer held a similar position in 9358724 General Hospital. I also learned that Mark Bolenbaugh was head Xray technician at 5387432 X-ray center.

Inquiring about some other members, I found that Anna Ainsworth operated a day nursery for pre-schoolers. Annette Doan was a sportscaster covering the games of the 1011358 Yankees. Mary Ina McConn I had also seen on the hospital vision plate: a great comedienne. Cindy Dull had made a small fortune marketing Cynthia Cosmetics. Charles Waterman was a well-known playboy millionaire. Arlene Witten was Home-Ec. Professor at 1598834 University, and prepared teaching machine tapes for schools all over the country. Last, but not least, Josephine Delgado and Teresa Pina operated a plush salon in 2398774. I had found my class after 25 years, alive and prosperous. I thanked Tom for the ride, and got off at the hotel, thankful to be back in the world again.

UNDERCLASSMEN

Character is not like a mushroom that springs up overnight after a summer rain. Character comes from endurance and fortitude. Escaping discipline and hard work has become one of the most common aims of mankind. But without discipline and work, men come to find that life consists of spurts and stops-mainly stops-because the superficial things that arouse their enthusiasm for a time soon collapse.

Success in life does not depend on genius. Any young man of ordinary intelligence, who is morally sound, aboveboard in his dealings, and not afraid of work should succeed in spite of obstacles and handicaps, if he plays the game fairly and squarely and keeps everlastingly at it. The possibilities before one are measured by the determination within one.

So, Christian character flourishes not in the ooze of ease and contentment, not in freedom from pain, sorrow, and worry; but in the thick of the battle of life. When the going becomes rough, I will think of the character I am building today.

ELEMENTARY

*There are many lessons we might learn
Along the ways of life.
That lead to happiness and thus
Avoid the way of strife.*

*Learn to speak kindly for all know
What grievous words will do.
Live peaceable with all mankind
As far as lieth in you.*

*When you feel sad and somewhat blue,
Pretend that you feel fine.
Soon you'll be smiling, I am sure,
So why should you repine?*

*Yes, learn to laugh 'tis better far
Than medicine 'tis known.
Laugh and the world laughs with you,
Weep and you weep alone.*

*If you have been wronged by some one,
Don't be cast down and fret.
"Twill rob the mind of peace and rest,
Just forgive and forget.*

*So as you journey on your way,
Be hopeful--not distressed
For faith and hope and prayer will help,
To live life at its best.*

ATHLETICS

*The pitch, the crack of the bat,
The game is on. The muscles pound
And pulsate with the cheers of screaming crowds
Until their goal, a victory, is found.
Then, racing down the court, a play is set,
And one last basket that can win the game,
The shot is up and streaking through the net,
A score! A win! that brings a fleeting fame.
And we remember all the games we won,
And too, the ones we lost. This shot, that play
Will later in our lives bring back the fun,
The games, the athletes of another day.*

ACTIVITIES

*Then are the times when we the chance possess
to put to practice all that we have learned.
A preview of the future, our success
Has brought the many trophies we have earned.
A time for future teachers to explore
And future scientists to probe their field,
When future journalists events record
And artists can express the things they feel.
Young actors, actresses experience
The night of nights, the lights, the last class play,
And each deliver lines with diligence
Remembering what to do and what to say.
These are the times when youthful hands and mind
Are joined; accomplishment is special fun,
And all too soon, the youthful hearts just find
That these times too, as others, now are gone.*

*The hands of industry, commerce, and trade
From whose great, bulging veins the town was made,
Whose scope and artistry became the braid
Of life about us: these are helpful hands.*

*The tempo of the future we will find,
Hands of the benefactors who unwind
New paths for younger hands, a younger mind
Will better be for these, the helpful hands.*

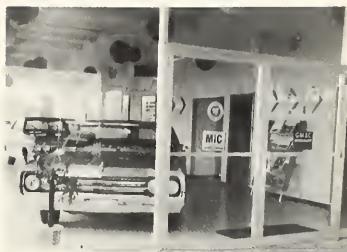

*The hands that lead our own community,
Hands, realistic, from society
That understand and strive for unity
With all its youth: these are the helpful hands.*

*And we, indebted now, for what they share
With us, their deep concern and patient care,
Can but return our thanks as we declare--
These are, yes these are willing, helpful hands.*
